

Final FRCA Teaching Programme 2020

In view of the Covid-19 outbreak, I have created a modified teaching programme. The teaching for the next few months will consist of more regular half-day sessions rather than full day sessions,

The format will be as follows:

- Practice exam questions will be sent the day before the sessions via email.
- Please complete these before the session as we will discuss the answers during the teaching.
- A group videoconferencing session in the afternoon with topic-based tutorials and discussion.
- Resources and additional reading based around the topics discussed to be sent out via email after the session to help consolidate the learning.

While the exam practice component to the sessions will focus initially on those candidates preparing for the written examination, I will reintroduce VIVA practice when possible. The topics and material covered however will still be relevant to those preparing for either part of the exam. The topics for the tutorial will be released the day before along with the questions.

You can participate from home or from your base hospital either alone or in small groups if you find this to be more convenient.
